

Asian Task Force Against Domestic Violence

Celebrating over 15 years of supporting survivors of domestic violence and strengthening Asian families and communities

annual report
2008

I work at ATASK because it is beautiful to watch families go from a state of brokenness, to a place of stability and success.

— JENNIFER LEE, Family Program Coordinator

From the Board Chair

Atsuko Toko Fish

January 2009

Dear Friends:

When I accepted the role of Board Chair of ATASK six years ago, my hope was that I would continue to strengthen an organization with a proud history, excellent reputation, and outstanding staff and services. Now that my term is complete, I am more confident than ever that we have not only accomplished so much towards our mission and vision, and made a difference in thousands of people's lives, but that we will be a sustainable organization for years to come. Each day our committed staff members help clients re-establish safety and trust, heal, and lead stronger and more independent lives, and educate families and communities about preventing violence. In the past six years we have served a greater number of clients, increased our staff, expanded our service populations, and moved to new and improved sites for community-based advocacy and outreach services in both Boston and Lowell.

With a staff that speaks over 12 Asian languages and dialects and has a deep cultural understanding of our service populations, ATASK provides unique services in the Greater Boston, Massachusetts, and New England area. We have also increased visibility of ATASK's work nationally and internationally. The organization is on sound financial footing, and I am extremely optimistic that under the leadership of our new Board Chair, Kija Kim and Vice-Chair, Catherine Coburn, and our new President, Linda Chin, we will be able to survive and thrive in these challenging times, provide quality services to even more clients, create greater awareness, and enhance our organization's impact. It has been an honor and privilege for me to be ATASK's Board Chair for the past 6 years. I have learned so many lessons about the impressive resilience of our clients, worked through challenges with my Board colleagues and have made lifelong friendships, and witnessed the incredible determination and commitment of the staff. This gratifying experience will remain with me forever, and I thank you for this opportunity of a lifetime.

Only together can we eliminate domestic violence and build Asian families and communities for this and future generations. Please join us in thanking our outgoing Board members and welcoming our new Board members. We wish you peace and prosperity in the upcoming year, and thank you for your interest and ongoing support of the important work of the Asian Task Force Against Domestic Violence.

Atsuko Toko Fish

From the President

Linda Chin

January 2009

Dear Friends:

When I accepted the role of President of ATASK four months ago, I was aware of ATASK's challenging mission. Family violence is the major crime and public health issue in the region, if not, all over the world. It is a silent epidemic that affects the entire spectrum of society, at all educational and socioeconomic levels and of all ethnic and cultural backgrounds. ATASK's critical scope of services and expertise in serving the Asian population have been built over 15 years, and the level of service and accomplishments have been numerous, but there is still great need and much more work ahead.

With the economic downturn, heading a non-profit like ATASK has become admittedly more challenging. The economy places additional stresses on already vulnerable families and our sources of funding are vulnerable as well, necessitating us to assess our organization's performance. But I can think of no other organization that I'd rather be leading. Every day I am energized by ATASK's challenging mission, how ATASK embodies multiculturalism, and how we help immigrants pursue their dreams. Every day I am inspired by the staff's passion and positive attitudes. Every day I am inspired by the courage of our clients. And every day I am inspired by the generosity of our supporters, our Board, and volunteers.

In spite of, or perhaps especially because of, the economic times, so many people have asked "How can I help?" and we have continued to be the beneficiaries of time, talent, donated goods, and financial support. This keeps us going, and allows us to continue to have ambitious plans for ATASK. In the coming year we will continue to improve the quality of our services, and increase our network of Friends of ATASK. We will also be developing a strategic plan to map our road ahead. As we proceed we will be asking "How can ATASK help meet our clients' and populations' needs?"

Linda Chin

I work at ATASK to be a part of an organization that addresses domestic violence in an approach that is both culturally relevant and empowering.

— QINGJIAN SHI (Q.J.), Interim Director of Education & Outreach

Giving Opportunities

1000 Cranes and 2000 Butterflies for ATASK's 20th Anniversary

Raising Awareness and Funds for the Asian Task Force Against Domestic Violence

The Japanese art of paper folding, origami, is centuries old. The crane is one of the most classic folds and is recognized internationally to represent peace. The story of 1,000 cranes originates from a folk legend that says if you fold 1,000 cranes, you will get your wish.

The Asian Task Force Against Domestic Violence is adapting this time-honored tradition in a campaign to raise awareness and funds to prevent domestic violence and build Asian families and communities. We will be folding 1,000 cranes, each in honor of a person, family, or group who wants to support our "wish" of a peaceful world without family violence. To be a sponsor of one of the 1,000 cranes, we are asking for a contribution of $500 or more in the launch year 2009 and assistance in casting a wider "net" for additional cranes, as well as another group of supporters: 2,000 butterflies. Cranes will be recognized for their leadership role, identified on the ATASK website and other promotional materials. Cranes will also receive a commemorative handmade set of origami crane earrings.

The butterfly is also relevant to ATASK's mission. In Asian cultures it is often used to symbolize love and beauty. We are further adapting the butterfly's metamorphosis as a metaphor for the assistance ATASK provides in helping survivors of domestic violence become more self-sufficient. The butterfly is a beautiful creature that embodies rebirth, life, and freedom. To be a sponsor of one of the 2,000 butterflies, we are asking for a contribution of $100, which may be renewed annually. Butterflies will be acknowledged on the ATASK website and will also receive a piece of commemorative butterfly jewelry handmade by our clients and volunteer community.

Our hope is that these levels of support will inspire creative fundraising ideas and celebration opportunities for families, groups, small businesses, and schools and will enable a broad range of donors to experience the joy of giving to a vital cause. For more information please contact Kozue Sawame at 617-338-2350 x232 or kozue@atask.org.

Seeds of Hope Scholarship

Providing Financial Support to Help Clients Achieve Independence through Education

With "seed" money generated by several Business Women's Breakfasts, ATASK has created a Seeds of Hope Scholarship fund. The purpose of the scholarship is to provide recipients with financial assistance to attain economic independence and self-sufficiency through education. Over ten clients have received scholarships since the program's inception, used toward achieving a secondary school certificate, diploma, or degree. We have supported graduates from community colleges and master's degree programs! Additional scholarships will be awarded in 2009. For more information about giving to the Seeds of Hope Scholarship fund, please contact Elizabeth Vittum at 617-338-2350 x239 or liz@atask.org.

Sidd Goyal, Silk Road Volunteer

Volunteer at ATASK!

Volunteers and interns provide critical support at ATASK. In 2008, over 135 volunteers and interns supported ATASK in their work. Volunteer tasks include administrative help, program support, and assistance with fundraising activities. Thank you to all of our wonderful volunteers and interns for helping us enhance our programs and services and fulfill our mission. For more information please contact Koko Oyama at 617-338-2350 x227 or hiroko@atask.org.

Volunteering for ATASK is something I look forward to every year as it is an organization that actually makes a difference in the lives of individuals. — SIDD GOYAL, Silk Road Volunteer

I believe in fighting for social justice and protecting human rights. I believe in advocating for the rights of those who cannot stand up for themselves. — HIROKO OYAMA, Direct Services Coordinator

Celebrating Over 15 Years of Supporting Survivors of Domestic Violence and Strengthening Asian Families and Communities

Thanks to generous support from public and private sources, committed Board leadership, and the hard work of staff and volunteers, the Asian Task Force Against Domestic Violence has expanded on the vision of our founder and built one of the most vital non-profits in the Greater Boston, Massachusetts, and New England areas. Incorporated in 1992, ATASK is now a $1.8 million, United Way-affiliated agency. We take great pride in our origins, and our journey over the past 15 years:

- From the efforts of our founder, Cheng Imm Tan, a coalition of volunteers, and the first paid staff member, Carmen Chan, ATASK now employs approximately 30 staff members. In 2008, 135 volunteers provided 5,416 volunteer hours to the agency.
- From modest beginnings in temporary office space, ATASK now operates community-based services in Boston and Lowell offices, and a 7-room shelter in a confidential location in the Greater Boston area. In 2008, ATASK provided 7,238 bed days in our shelter and annex, serving 63 women, men, and children. Community-based advocates assisted 450 clients with legal, housing, healthcare, public benefits, employment, immigration issues, and mental health referrals.
- From a primary focus serving Chinese, Khmer, and Vietnamese speakers, ATASK has grown to meet the needs of the growing Asian population, and now has the capacity to provide services in 12 Asian languages and dialects. In 2008, most of ATASK's clients originated from Cambodia, China, India, Korea, and Vietnam; some also come from Bangladesh, Burma, Laos, Nepal, Pakistan, and the Philippines.
- From early grassroots efforts to raise awareness, ATASK has expanded its education and outreach capabilities and collaborations with area organizations. In 2008, ATASK conducted trainings for local police departments and dental providers and dating violence prevention sessions for youth in area schools, involving 2,400 participants. In the communities we serve, ATASK outreach staff builds awareness about ATASK's services, including its multilingual 24/7 hotline. In 2008 ATASK responded to over 7,000 advocacy calls and 308 hotline calls.

Since 1993, ATASK has provided the only multicultural and multilingual shelter for Asian survivors and families in New England.

Life Skills/ESOL instructor, Marjorie Forte, teaches a class.

- From our successful foundation of outreach, advocacy and housing services, ATASK has expanded its continuum of services to include programs that teach our clients life skills and reach economic self-sufficiency, including classes for English for Speakers of Other Languages. In 2008 ATASK staff provided 750 hours of group and individual instruction to our clients.
- From hand distribution of translated flyers and posters, ATASK uses technology to enhance communications and spread our messages. In 2009 we will be building an advanced website to further our work, mission, and vision and to communicate with supporters and friends of ATASK across the globe. Look on our website in 2009 for additional information about our organization, an updated donor list, an events calendar, a photo gallery, press releases, and our "Roads of Life" video.
